This is the Sabbath day, and our peo ple will attend church-some for fashion's sake, some for interest, and some for the love of the house of God. Preachers and people forget that civil war is raging, and tha', owing to the wickedness of man, armies are lying to-day watching each other, ready to commence the work of death-armies of brethren. too, who ought to be at peace. There has been something horribly wrong in preachers and people, that Heaven should have brought upon us this calamity. The Bible says "blessed are the peacemakers;" but such is the nature of this conflict that it is almost treason to speak of peace, since war is a necessity. We admit the deplorable fact, but it is a fact that ought to be a subject of solemn consideration with the good people of this country why this should be the fact. The prayers, the preaching, the missionary efforts, have all failed to save us from this most uncivil of all wars. How much of all these has been sincere? How much of them hypocrisy? How much of them self-righteousness? How much of them 'o appear unto men? Certainly there must have been a vast amount of evil or the Ruler of Nations would not have turned away His face from a people he once blessed. We read many of the appeals for a day of fasting and prayer; but they were all tinctured more or less with the suggestion to pray for other people's sins. Better begin at home and pray for yourselves; pray where none but God sees and hears; not in the synag gues and in the streets. If the good people will all reform this war will cease; for ten righteous men Sodom would have been saved; bave we not, at least, ten times ten in

We had occasion, a day or two az), to consult some of the late census publications, and applied at the Mechanics' Library, where we supposed of course they were to be found. The Librarian informed us that there was nothing of the sort in the Library. There was not even a copy of the Census Abstract, which was printed last year, nor a copy of the last report of the Patent Office. As a large number of copies of each of these works is placed at the disposal of members of Conwe would suggest that an application be made to the Hon. Robert Millory for them. Of the Agricultural Report of the Patent Office, 200,000 were ordered to be printed by Congress for dis tribution by members. We do not know the number of census reports that were ordered, but presume it was sufficient for the supply of all the public libraries at least. These works are not offered for sale, and the only made by which libraries can be supplied is the one we have indicated

The Republicans in Indiana and Illinois have taken advantage of a clause in their Constitutions, requiring two-thirds to make a quorum, to break up legislative bodies by absenting themselves. It was not thought when the provision was made in the Constitutions that any party would ever make such a use of it. So it is, and it is an ominous symp tom of the times. Suppose that no party should get two-thirds of their Legislatures for years to come, and that this lawless example were followed hereafter, what will become of those States? These proceedings will bring popular government into contempt, and this is, perhaps, the design of those who look further than mere party passion. Let the Legislatures, whenever a decent one is obtained, make it a felony in a representative to leave his seat for such a purpose, and make him serve the State in another capacity a while; and these rascally proceedings can be stopped without charging that provision in the Constitutions: for it is not without its use, whilst

[For the Louisville Sunday Democrat.] PEACE.

Oh! cruel War! why curse our land, Once beautiful and fair? Oh! pause-reflect-the soldier's home, The sorrow that is there.

The widow with her little one, Whose souls are sorely tried; They weep for him who lived and loved.

But for his country died. Oh! cruel War! list to our prayer. Stop stalking through the land;

The widow sends the angel Peace To grasp thee by the hand. Oh! look upon the once green fields And count the honored braves.

Who've fought that they might ever fill Those countless honored graves.

The bones of hundreds there repose Whom death cannot release; A voice comes up from every grave And cries aloud for Peace.

Misguided North! deluded South! Oh! why this deep disgrace? Let Peace but join you once again In one long, sweet embrace.

Oh! let the blessed voice of Peace Resound from pole to pole, And love will smile in every eye, And joy fill every soul. The widow will forget to weep,

The orphan all his pain; For what has been his country's loss Has been his father's gain. Lay down your arms! go to your fields! Your shops, your trades and stores;

Forget the past-be men again! Drive Famine from your doors! WILL S. HAYS. HERMITAGE, June 10th, 1863.

Incidents of the Polish Revolt.

We find in the Polish correspondence of the London Daily News the following notices of scenes on the battlefields: At Olescice, about ten miles from the we of Kobiclanka, where the battle of May 5th took place, we found Winnicki, the chief of the staff, lving wounded. A ball had struck him in the head, but happily only carried away part of the scalp, without fracturing the skull. He described the buttle as having been tremendously severe, and from all accounts the volleys fired at intervals of a tew minutes by the Russians were more like a fixed of lead than a mere shower of bullets.

To the number of about eight hundred men the Russians poured across the most at pre-

Oa the left, where General Waligorski com-manded, the Russians made a tremendous onslaught, pouring a flunk fire and from guos planted on Austrian territory. Thus the Po-lish position was assaulted from every side, and but for the extraordinary bravery of its and but for the extraordinary bravery of its defenders must have been effectually carried. An officer who was present at the battle of Fredericksburg assured me that the fire on that day was never so heavy as this.

Wylerynski, the "attaman," as the commander of the insurgent Cossacks is called, formed the side which formers the side which formers the side which formers.

formed his six y men in the side which, forming the base of the camp, separates the Russian and Austrian territories, and made a srieudid charge between the double fire of the insurgents from the Russian woods and the Russians from the Austrian woods. The cavalry was not stopped by the marsh, but, in the face of the guns planted on the other side, rode boldly into it. The Russian gun-ners seeing this, at ones took to flight, and had not the cavalry become hopelessly en-tangled in the marsh the two guns might have been captured. Six of the insurgent Cossacks fell dead and the attaman was wounded.

Where the fight was hottest, a priest, Bul-siewicz, raising the cross slott, put himself at the head of a desperate band and threw himself on the dense masses of the enemy. one of these charges young Waligorski, a of seventeen, rushing madly forward, was laid ow by a bullet which struck him on the jux.

I should never see him more. Two officers of the insurrectionary army, named Lorans and L'Espinasse, who have just arrived in Paris, publish a statement of the atrocities committed by the Russian soldiers in Poland, and add some bits of evidence to show the manner in which Prussia aids the Czar. Our country groans aloud in danger's hour, When Freedom's temple is nigh rent in twain, And War's relentless hand is raised to strike. The final blow, to crush its former greatness. This to be hoped, before it is too late, That from the people's choice may yet arise Some one, all worthy of their conduence, To save us from our thraidom. It is time, If we would save the commonwealth, and be As freemen, not as mercenary slaves. Sharp Fight near Monticello-The Rebels Driven Back-Our Killed, Wounded, and Missing.

[Special Dispatch to the Cincinnati Gazette.] SOMEPSET, KY., June 11. After driving the rebels out of and below Monticello, yesterday, Colonel Kautz fell back towards the river. The rebels rallied in force, and, taking a by-road, plunged furiously upon our rear guard six miles this side of Monticelle. Companies H and E, 2d Ohio cavalry, in command of Lieut. HONORABLE EMPLOYMENT.-Let the your man remember there is nothing derogatory i any employment that ministers to the well being of the race. It is the spirit that is car being of the race. It is the spirit that is carried into any employment that elevates it or degrades it. The plowmin that turns the clod may be a brother to Cincinnatus or Washington, or to the clod he turns. There is no giory in the set of affixing a signature by which the treasures of commerce are transferred, or treaties between nations are ratified. The glory consists in the rectitude of purpose that approves the one, and the grandeur of the philanthropy that sanctifies the other.

The Nile Expedition of Speke and Grant -Remarkable Discoveries in the In terior of Africa.

At the annual meeting of the Riyal Gecgraphical Society in London, on the 25th ult. Sir Roderick Murchison embodied in his address the narrative of the recent discovery of the sources of the Nile by Captain Speke and Captain Grant, compiled from their journals,

The following extracts show some of the remarkable discoveries made by these ex-

Speke sent a quire of paper by way of Zurzbar which has never reached the society. His present reports contain a consecutive narrative of the latter and the principal part of his journey between Kazeh and Gondokora. They commence on January 1, 1862, and date from his departure from the capital of the kingdom called Karagwe, that abuts by one of its corners against the west shore of Nyanza, at its southern end. Here he seems to have made a most favorable impression on the in-telligent king, who gave him a much-needed introduction for his onward journey, franked his expenses, and forwarded him with urgent and friendly recommendations to the powerful King of Uganda Karagwe is a portion of a peculiarly interesting district. It occupies a shoulder of the eastern watershed of a territory two hundred miles broad and some six thousand feet above the see layed that is study. thousand feet above the sea level, that is studded with detached conical hills, one at least of which attains the hight of ten thousand feet—the Montes Luræ of Burton and Speke. Two sources of the Nile rise in this territory—namely, the chief feeder of the Nyanza lake, and that of another lake, the Luta Nzigi; so also does the source of the Shire of Living and that of another lake, the Luta Nzigi; so also does the source of the Shire of Livingssone, if we may believe the reports now brougat to us by Speke. It seems at length that the Tauganika lake is emptied, and not supplied, by a river at its southern end, and that this effluent feeds the Niassa lake, and through it, of course, the Shire. The northern feeder of the Tanganika takes its rise in the land of which we have been speaking.

It is evident, from a part of the present reports, that the missing papers would have enlarged on the fact that in Kurag we Speke found himself in contact with a superior negro race, strongly and favorably contrasting with the tribes he had previously seen, and, with the tribes he had previously seen, and, with the exception of Uganda, whither Speke now went, is inhibited by a similar race. Their country lies along the Nyarzı, and occupies a full hair lies along the Nyatzi, and occupies a full fair of both its western and nothern shores. The parent stream of the Nile bounds Uganda on the east, as it issues from the middle of the northern boundary of the lake with a current the east, as it issues from the middle of the northern boundary of the lake with a current one hundred and fifty yirds in width, leaping over a fail of twelve feet in hight. The Nyanzi has numerous other outlets from the same shore, which all converge upon the Nile and feed it at various points of its course extending to a distance of one hundred and fifty miles from the lake.

Speke describes the people of Uganda as "the French" of these parts, from their sprightliness and good taste in behavior, dress and houses. Their ruler is absolute in his power; fortunately he showed great kindness and even affection for Speke. He knew well of the navigation of the White-Nile by whites, and had occasionally received their bartered goods. He was exceedingly anxious for the establishment of a trading route to Gondokoro, but northern tribes blocked the way. Speke here found the north shore of the Nyazzi to be almost coincident with the equator. He conceives the lake to have formerly extended further than at present. quator. He conceives the lake to have forequator. He conceives the lake to have formerly extended further than at present. Its what he calls "rushdrains," apparently small half-staguant water courses, draining that portion of the adjacent land which he blieves to have been formerly flooded by the lake.

The people, too, were far more barbarous. He then first saw people who lived in about the teast with ungoro interpreters. The people, too, were far more barbarous. He then first saw people who lived in about 100 to 10 retired unmolested to the river. No rebels have been seen since except a small body this morning who made an attempt to expure our pickets. Our loss in killed, wounded, and missing is about thirty. Sixteen wounded and in this morning. Three were left at Lapt. West's, in charge of surgion Smith.

The highest of the more civilized countries he had visited, or the three kingdoms of Karagwe, Uganda, and Ungoro, Speke unhertatingly gives the preference to the first named, inasmuch as the King Rumanika is described as a person of character and intelli-gence, Mtess, the sovereign Uganda, being an amiable youth, surrounded by his wives, and delighting in field sports; while one of the rules of his court seems to require the execu-tion of one man per diem for the good of the The northernmost of these three kings, to the north of whose dominions the language changes entirely, is described as a morose, suspicious, churlish creature, yelept Kamrasi, whose chief occupation was the fattening of his wives and children till they could not stand, and in the practising of witch-raft. Our travelers spent a whole year in getting through these three kingdoms, in no one of which had a white man ever been seen before; which had a white man ever been seen before; A dispatch from Lee, at Culpepper 9th, nor would our friends in all probability ever states that he drove the Federals back that have escaped from their clutches had they not supplied their majestics with numerous pres-ents, and had not the kings eagerly desired to open a traffic with the whites.

Sir Roderick added: And here I cannot but observe that if there remain any persons in the old fashioned erre-neous belief that the interior of Africa is a mountainous sandy desert, from which the sources of the Nile are derived, the discoveries of Burton and of Speke and Grant have as completely dispelled the illusion, as respects completely dispelled the litusion, as respects the equatorial latitudes, as the journey of Livingstone put an end to a similar false hypothesis in the south of this great continent. Modern discovery has, indeed, proved the truth of the hypothesis which I ventured to suggest to you cleven years ago, that the true center of Africa is a great clevated watery leads of the showning in vice lands, its large. basin, often abounding in rich lands, its large lakes being fed by numerous streams from ad-jacent ridges, and its waters escaping to the sea by fissures and depressions in the bigher arrounding lands.

As to the Mountain of the Moon of Ptolemy it is still open to us to doubt whether that geographer had any sound basis for his statement; for, amid the mountains of tropical Africa, we may hesitate to apply that designation with Burton and Speke to their central group north of Like Tanganyika; or, on the other hand, to agree with Dr. Beke in considering as such a north and south chain on the east, which, as he supposes, unites the long mountains of Killmand tro and Knenia with Abyssinis. Even these two views need not exhaust this prolific subject of theory, while they may serve geographers a good turn as useful stimula to future explorers.

An American Consul Arriested in France for Circulating Bogus Mexican News.—
We learn from the Pars correspondent of the London Times, of the 27th ult., that five persons were arraigned at the bar of the Police Court of Paris, on the 25th, for having circulated false news with respect to the position of the French troops in Mexico; or, secording to the indictment, "for having, in the course of the year 1862, and in the present year, practiced meneuvers and maintained in the present year. course of the year 1863, and in the present year, practiced microuvers and mit tal el a correspondence, both abroad and at home, for the purpose of d sturbing the tuble peace and exciting hatred and contempt against the Government of the Emperor." The Raid at Elizabethtown.

Yesterday morning about eight o'clock a squad of about seventy five guerrillas, led by one Capt. Hines, of Bowlinggreen, dashed suddenly into Elizabethtown, where Judge Stewart was holding Circuit Court. Upon the arrival of the down freight train the rescals seized ten cars loaded with horses, let the horses out, set fire to the empty care, and made the ergineer give the engine a full head of steam and jump off, he spraining his ankle badly. Away flew the engine down the road, with five cars all in a blaze, running within two miles of Glendale, where it stopped, and the other trains were detained by the wreck. The engine was not damaged any These "chivalry" broke open Adams Express company's safe in town, and robbed the engineer and conductor, took some of the horses and skedaddled in fine order. Two companies of infantry took horses, mounted them and started in hot pursuit.

Judge Stewart not having much love for such company, dismissed the court and came to this city last evening. The passenger trains were not molested at all. The train which left this city yesterday morning returned in the evening. A train arrived from Nashville. The road is in order to-day and the trains will run as usual. These guerrillas, we learn, did not do my other damage to the road or any of the cars. It is to be hoped "our boys" will overtake them and teach them a lesson.

Nothing New from Vicksburg.

Late News from New Orleans.

Strict Quarantine Established. Louislana Unionists in Washington.

WASHINGTON, June 13. By mail to New York, the following extracts are from a letter of an officer, dated Haines' Bluff June 1st, 1863, and which to day was received in this city:

We learn from Mr. J. W. Green, clerk of the Starcelyed in this city:

We reached here yesterday after a week's march, at between the Black and Yazoo The object of the expedition was to destroy the resources of the expedition was to destroy the resources of the country to prevent the enemy from substitute their armies, and to drive out any force he might have in that region, and, if possible to ascertain if the enemy was concentrating in any considerable force was concentrating in any considerable force for the curpose of raising the siege of Vicks-burg. We had six brigades, numbering some-thing over 10,000 men. We have marched over one hundred miles in a week during the hottest kind of weather.

We destroyed all the forage and supplies of cotton, and drove off all the cattle, horses and mules between the two lines for a distance of fliry miles. We wet no considerable body of the enemy; had only one or two slight skir-mithes. We ascertained where the enemy was concentrating, and gained much valuable in formation, which may be of use hereafter.

The Communding General having reported to General Grant this morning to Hanine's Bluff, and seemed well satisfied with our operations. It was made the paintuf but impera-ative duty to destroy everything, cotton, mext, mills, and cotton gius, that we could fied, sparing only dwellings and a small supply of provisions for each family. They can raise no force to make us give up the siege.

MURFREESBORD, June 13. The Chattanoogs Rebel of the 11th has the Jackson, June 9.—Our scouts report the enemy's pickets ten miles deep, and every means of approach to Vicksburg closely guarded, and great courage and care are required toreach the city. Grant has been communicating with the Federal fleet, betokening a movement on his part or a renewal of the assault. ment on his part or a renewal of the assault. Nothing from Port Hudson.
An officer captured by Grant, and who subchuently made his escape, arrived this mornng, and reports the Yankee army much de oressed by the knowledge of Johnston massing a heavy force, and by the fact that certain leath swaits them in front. Their officers say certain defeat or annibilation swaits them.

Capt. Thompson, of Resecrans' staff, under a flag of truce, delivered the effects of two spies, hong at Franklin, to Lieut. Col. Webb, of the Fifty-first Alabama, this evening. One of the party receiving the flag remarked to Capt. Thompson, "I see you have bung two of Capt. Thompson, "I see you have bung two of Capt. Thompson: "I see you have hung two of our spies." He then added that Orten, his particular friend, was Inspector of Instruc-tions on Gen. Wheeler's staff. He also adnitted that the execution was just, and in ac-ordance with the usages of military law.

Johnson's Landing, June 8, } via Cairo, June 13. The lines of the army are in the same position. Cappossating from front and rear at intervals during the ddy. A small body of our troops at Satarlia, on the Yazoo river, were met and attacked on the 5th by a portion of Johnston's force, when we retired without loss to Haines Bluff

It is anticipated the rebels may endeavor to regain that position. Ample preparations have been made to repel them. The rebels are known to be in a bad condition within Vicks-The weather is hot, and the spirits of the soldiers are good.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.

The bark Ellridge has arrived, with Japan dates of the 11th of May. At Tuegawa there were 13 British war ships and 2 Duich, the French Admiral's flag ship, and the American steamer Wyomleg. The English Admiral had demanded a large indemently, and the surrender of the murderer of Richardson. Falling to receive which, France and England would declare war against Japan. The Japanese had nearly all left Tuegawa. All the merchant vessels were detained to receive the foreign residents in case war engued, which was contracted on some defenseless inhabitants in the neighborhood of Medellin by the Egyptians is esidents in case war ensued, which was con-

NEW YORK, June 13. The steamer George Washington brings no news, except an order from Gen. Banks, that no steamer from New York will be allowed in Quarantine without a special order from the commanding General, unless it be a mell-ship, or transporting stores for the govern-ment. This is made necessary by the con-tinued refusal to transport the soldiers' mail, except upon inadmissable conditions, and will be inexorably enforced. Nothing from Port Hudson.

A tender to the privateer Florida has made six (captures of merchant vessels, of which she burned four and boarded two.

A private in the Eighty-third Ohio, writing from the rear of Vicksburg, under date of the 29th of May, to bis mother, says: It is fun for us to go out on picket. us pickets—have a little fort right up to the rebel fort. Our little fort has little port holes just big enough to look through, and we shoot every herse, mule and rebel we can. They stick their heads up, and away they go. I will tell you something that seemed very strange to me: The other day the rebels raised the white flag, but nobody knew what it meant. The rebels got upon their works and looked at us and we looked at them. They commenced walking around, and then we went close to them, and in a short time we were all mixed up, rebel and Union soldiers altogether. It was up to the fort where we had the hard aght of Friday. It was all very strange. Some say General Pemberton came over to General Grant and told him if he'd let him go he would surrender Vicksburg. There is something up. I believe Pemberton intends to sell Vicksburg

CAPTURED BY LADIES.—We were driving Sedgwick's infidels across Banks' Ford, when a Yankee officer was seen making his way through the streets of Fredericksburg, where we had no troops at the time, in order to gain we had no troops at the time, in order to gain the opposite side of the river. A number of ladles, standing on a poren at the time, saw the runaway, and cried out, "Stop him, step him," when a Miss Philippa Barbour, a nice of Col. Phili. Barbour, of Virginia, with a number of other ladies, gave chase, and ran the Yankee officer nearly down, who, convulsed with laughter at the sport, and the idea of being pursued by ladles, became nearly exhausted, and gave up on being hemmed in at the corner of a garden fence! Supply of Gold to the United States.

From the Commercial advertiser.

We have received the June number of Hunt's Merchand's Magazine, which contains a paper on England's tax system, another on the commercial and conomical situation of France, and a third (statistical) on the stock of gold in the United States. This last impeaches the correctness of the resulting balance of the preclous metal in the United States, $436.010,125, in a paper on the same subjects in the March number of the Magasine. The present writer—the editor of the San Francisco Mercantille List and Price Current—assuming $412,050,000 as a balance now in the United States, as follows:

ays:
The Money market among the Stock-houses has been ery active to day, and loans on anything but strictly rst class collaterals difficult to make up to the close of uniness. The rate is 7 per cent., although some leading ouses, on Government and State paper, have been able borrow at 6 per cent. In merchants paper there is ut little change.

Alderman Osborne introduced an ordinance establishing the "Louisville and Southern Park Street Railroad," which was read once, and ordered to be read a second time; the second reading being dispensed with by a vote of two thirds of all the members, the rule was suspended.

OLIVER LUCAS, Clerk.

[From the Canton (Ill.) Press, June 4.] Terrible Hail-Storm. At the hour of going to press on Thursday

last a terrible cloud of dust was visible in the lower end of the town, advancing with imperious fury; such as when the pent-up winds escaped from the cave of Eolus. Pedestrians, blinded by the sudden onset, fled in dismay to the mearest shelter, and every living thing either beat a hasty retreat or crouched in terror, submissive to a fate they were power-less to avert. Those dark and threatening clouds were, however, but the van couriers of a terrible storm of rain and hail that soon burst in all its fury, carrying destruction in its path. In town flags came down with a dash, or were torn into shreds—windows were broken and houses unroofed; the most serious damage was done at the Seward House, the tin roof of the west wing being torn from its fastenings and hurled into the street. In the country we hear of serious damage to the growing crops. W. G. Gordon, living two miles south west of town, had eighteen acres of wheat, ten of osts, and eighteen of corn effectually destroyed. H. Jennings, just beyond, lost twenty-five acres of wheat -3.
Nays—President Peter, Rubel, Osborne, Hubbard, Terry, and Crowe—6.
Alderman Osborne offered a resolution authorizing the property owners to grade and pave Kentucky street, between Brook and First streets, which was adopted.
Alderman Lightburn, from the Street Committee of the Address of hail could still be gathered by wagon loads, as it is said to have accumulated in gullies to the depth of six and eight feet. At Shefton Jones' the force of the hall scaled the bark and left many a braise and indentation on apple trees in his orchard. The storm seems to have been confined to a narrow breadth and soon spent its fury, not extending over a mile west of town and apparently crossing the river at or below Tully, as no reports of its terrible sweep have reached us from that di-

The Bloom of Age.—A good woman never grows old. Years may pass over her head, but if benevolence and virtue dwell in her heart she is as cheerful as when the spring of life first opened to her view. When we look upon a good woman we never think of her age; she looks as charming as when the rose of youth first bloomed on ther cheek. That rose has not faded yet—it will never fade. In her family she is the life and delight. In her neighborhood she is the friend and benefactor; in the church the devout worshipper and exemplary Christian. Who does not respect and love the woman who has reach her devent and love the woman who has passed her days in acts of kindness and mercy—who has been friend of man and God—whose whole life has Alderman Lightburn, from same, reported a resolution to grade and pave Congress street from Sixteenth to Seventeenth street, which was read a second time, and passed by the following vote:

Alderman Lightburn, from same, reported a resolution to man and Good—whose whose the has been a scene of kinduces and love, a devotion to truth add religion? We repeat—such a woman cannot grow old. She will always be fresh and buoyant in spirits and active in humble and beautiful and second and beautiful and second deeds of mercy and benevolence. If the young lady desires to retain the bloom and beauty of youth, let her not yield to the sway of fashion and folly; let her love truth and virtue; and to the close of life she will retain those feelings which now make life appear a garden of sweets-ever fresh and ever new.

Jeremy Taylor says, if you are for pleasure, marry; if you prize rosy health, marry. A good wife is Heaven's last best gift to man—an angel of mercy, minister of graces innumberable; his caskest of jewels; her voice, his aweetest music; her smiles, his brightest day; her kiss, the guardian of inne-cence; her arms, the pale of his safety, the balm of his health, the balsam of his life; her industry, his surest wealth; her economy, his safest seeward; her lips, his faithful counselor; her bocom, the softest pillow of his cares, and her prayers, the ablest advocate of Heaven's blessings on his head. SHE ALWAYS MADE HOME HAPPY .- Such

She Always Made Hour Happy.—Such was the impressive sentiment which a friend wished us to add to an obituary notice of "one who had gone before."

What better tribute could be offered to the memory of the loved and lost? Eloquence with her loftiest eulogy—poetry with her most thrilling dirge—Sould afford nothing so sweet, so suggestive of the dead, as those simple words: "She always made home happy."

That Shakspeare wrote for all times and described only too accurately these times, appears from the following:

—"Are disputing of your generals;
One would have lingering wars, with little cost
Another would fly swift, but wanted wings;
A third man thinks without the expense at all
By guileful fair words, peace may be obtained."

An old maid, who has her eye a little sideways on matrimony, says: "The curse of this war is, that it will make so many widows who will be fierce to get married, and who know how to do it, that modest girls will stand no chance at all."

"How often do you knead bread?" asked one nousekeeper of another.
"Why, I might say we need it continually,"
the other replied.

Ose of the commanders of a military "We have met the enemy, and they are hours—ahead of us."

A peddler being asked by a long, spin-dle-shauked wag if he had any tin overalls, answered: "No; but I have a pair of candle molds that will just fit you."
